COWAN, Margaret (born November 16, 1918 in Dungannon, Ont, Canada) died at Peppi's House in Tucson, AZ on January 31, 2011 following challenging years with heart problems. She is survived by her son, David A. Cowan of Clearwater, FL; her daughter, Patricia A. Cowan of Tucson, AZ and her companions, Shelby and Chewy. We thank the Tucson medical community, especially Dr. Michael Finkelstein and staff; their skill, knowledge and dedication added meaningful years to her life. I also want to extend our thanks to TMC Hospice with their assistance in transitioning Mom from life to death. Mom would want her nieces and nephews to know she loved them. I can't leave out her love for her former son-in-law, Jim Ross and friend, Stephen Buchmann who continued to entertain and delight her until her silence. It's sad when someone close to us dies even when it's anticipated. There is however much to celebrate in the context of a life well lived. Those who wish to remember Mom are best to perform a quiet and random act of kindness. Her body was donated to LIFE LEGACY in hopes that the scientific research performed will benefit medical knowledge and society. There will be no memorial service.
